Re: Stefan Walker, Alain Pinel Realtors

To Whom It May Concern:

As the CEO of a Silicon Valley software company, I value the experience and expertise of a true professional. That is exactly what my wife and I found in Stefan Walker as we searched for our new home.

Stefan provided us with professional service and expert advice as we navigated the expensive Silicon Valley real estate market. While it took us time to determine exactly what and where we wanted to buy, Stefan patiently provided us with all the tools and advice needed. During our search he kept us informed with insightful market trends and analysis, which helped us make a decision on when to time our purchase.

Once we found the exact property, Stefan was able to guide the price negotiation and help us close the deal cleanly. His experience was invaluable in keeping the deal on track and insuring there were no unpleasant surprises.

Since he finished our transaction, he has since worked with other members of my Company's team, helping them to find and purchase new homes.

For these reasons, I can offer my recommendation of Stefan for any real estate transaction without hesitation. If you have any questions regarding this recommendation, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,
